

Re: Dual Boot a RS/6000?

Source: <http://unix.derkeiler.com/Mailing-Lists/AIX-L/2004-11/0150.html>

From: Damir Delija (ddelija_at_PUBLIC.SRCE.HR)

Date: 11/11/04

Date: Thu, 11 Nov 2004 20:29:51 +0100
To: aix-l@Princeton.EDU

On Thu, Nov 11, 2004 at 01:52:41PM -0500, cbaker@GOODYEAR.COM wrote:

> Hi All,
>
> I have a users who wants/needs a Linux system in his room. He presently > has a PC that he uses regularly and an IBM RS/6000 (an IntelliStation > Power 275 [9114-275]) running AIX 5.2 ML02. He uses the RS/6000 less > often. So, he is asking if I could put either SuSE or RedHat on the > RS/6000 and have it dual boot in either Linux (most of the time) or AIX
> 5.2 (some of the time).
>
> Can this be done? Can Linux run on a 9114-275, a Power 4+ system? If > yes, can it be dual bootable?

There are some redbooks on using redhat on rs6k
I remember one discussion where such alternative was mentioned based on based on having two different version of AIX on same machine two different boot disks, and some magic on boot lists.

I hope this helps

>
> Presently, he has two 36 GByte hard drives. The hdisk0 is rootvg with 27
> GBytes free. The hdisk1 is homevg and it has 18 GBytes free.
>
> Any info would be greatly appreciated.
>
> Sincerely,
>
> Christopher M. Baker
> Senior Technical Support Analyst
> DSE/TCO
> Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company
> cbaker@goodyear.com
> 330.796.1725
>
> =====
> Contains Confidential and/or Proprietary Information.

AIX-L: Re: Dual Boot a RS/6000?

- > May not be copied or disseminated without the expressed
- > written consent of The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company.
- > =====