

ksh -p flag

---

Source: <http://unix.derkeiler.com/Mailing-Lists/AIX-L/2006-04/msg00092.html>

---

- From: Holger.VanKoll@xxxxxxxxxxxxx
  - Date: Wed, 12 Apr 2006 07:17:30 +0200
-

Hello,

I have a script on a system that starts like this:

```
#!/bin/ksh -p
```

What does the -p flag do? I couldnt find anything in the manpage besides that -o privileged does the same.

Regards,

Holger