Hey all,

Anybody started work on the project 'Super tunnel Daemon' ? I was searching for some project for some time. And i recently came to know about this project at the project ideas page of FreeBSD. I read the requirements and idea of a non-offensive autodetection interested me the most.

I would like to join this project. I would like to know if people have already started working on this project and the project's current status.

I'm not aware of anyone currently working on the super tunnel daemon project.
