You have some valid points, but they get lost in your overly abbrasive tone. Several of us have watched your behaviour on the DFly lists, and I dearly hope that it doesn't overflow to our lists. It would be a shame to loose your insight and input.

Well I only have a few days to play with it, as it seems unlikely I'll be able to use FreeBSD for what I need it for. So the scorched-earth approach is the current choice of action :)

If you tell Matt he's wrong he ignores you whether you're a nice guy or a lout, so at least I get to blow off some steam. Its easy enough to create another alias.
