I might give OpenBSD a quick try as a reference.

Mike,
Have you done any testing on Solaris 10, or OpenSolaris? I understand that it has a very robust IP stack. It would be

Did a quick default install. Results are not so interesting since one stream livelocks the box. Basic stats at <http://www.tancsa.com/blast.html>

If there are some OpenSolaris wizards out there who want me to tune, I am happy to retest...
