

Re: Login question

Source: <http://unix.derkeiler.com/Mailing-Lists/FreeBSD/questions/2004-05/1832.html>

From: Bill Moran (wmoran_at_potentialtech.com)

Date: 05/21/04

Date: Thu, 20 May 2004 19:04:56 -0400

To: Christopher Svensrud <chris.svensrud@sbcglobal.net>

[Please use "reply-all" to keep the mailing list in the recipient list]

Christopher Svensrud wrote:

> I have tried your suggestion and I get the same problem. "incorrect > password".

Are you saying you're getting the login error when you try to login in from Windows via smb? If so, this is a completely different problem than the one I gave you a fix for.

> I am running version 4.9 with KDE desktop. I am trying to set this machine > up as a simple file server.

Can you log in to KDE?

> I get message containing nmbd[187] as I try to log in. Is there a way to > disable or edit smb.conf from single user mode? If really thing this might > be part of the source of my problem.

I'm not sure, but I don't think your problem is with FreeBSD, but with Samba.

Take a look at some of these docs:

<http://us3.samba.org/samba/docs/man/smbpasswd.8.html>

<http://us3.samba.org/samba/ftp/docs/Samba24Hc13.pdf>

<ftp://ftp.stratus.com/pub/vos/customers/samba/>

Note the following additional information:

1) If your problem is with logging in via samba, you'll probably get better assistance posting your question to the samba mailing lists:

<http://lists.samba.org/mailman/>

2) If your problem is with samba, you'll most likely need to include your smb.conf file in order to get any decent help.

>

> Cheers

> Chris

freebsd-questions: Re: Login question

>
>
> -----Original Message-----
> From: Bill Moran [mailto:wmoran@potentialtech.com]
> Sent: Thursday, May 20, 2004 12:29 PM
> To: Christopher Svensrud
> Cc: freebsd-questions@FreeBSD.org
> Subject: Re: Login question
>
> Christopher Svensrud wrote:
>