That is probably because there isn't anything about PAE in those files.

It probably ought to be something in LINT, but there isn't.

To find out details about PAE read the pae(4) man page.

The files haven't changed since then, so there was no reason for cvsup to update them.

That's because nobody has added such a line to the file.

Again, there probably ought to be such a line, but there isn't.
