We have a JSP based application running on E450 Server with Sun solaris 2.8 Version with Generic_108528-18 sun4u sparc SUNW,Ultra-4 .

The application uses Java Mail (JDK 1.3) and iPlanet as Webserver..

The JSP Application captures data and send to SMTP via JavaMail host to be forwarded to Exchange Server which is then downloaded to outlook 2000 mailbox..

The Problem is that this data has been designed to be displayed as normal text in the user mailbox..

But at times without any known reason it seem to send txt attachments to user mailbox..This happens intermittantly and we have not been able to figure out why this happens suddenly and then one fine day everything starts working normal..

We get following error

This message uses a character set that is not supported by the Internet Service. To view the original message content, open the attached message. If the text doesn't display correctly, save the attachment to disk, and then open it using a viewer that can display the original character set. Has anyone experienced something similar ?

At Times we reset the iPlanet Webserver on E450 the problem seems to disappear but we are not sure if this is the problem and what causes this intermittent problem

What could be cause and solution for this

Thanks
