Hello SunManagers:

<babble>

Sometime last year I installed 9_Recommended. I was always under the impression that 9_Recommended was only to be installed once.

I noticed recently that 9_Recommended has been updated and the file size increased (from about 30Mb to 88Mb). So I downloaded it and re-installed.

The output, below my sig, is from the `./install_cluster`

I've searched the archives and Google (9_recommended error), but cannot find the meaning of all of the error codes generated by the output.

Ironically, linuxsecurity.com gives these definitions:

http://boran.linuxsecurity.com/security/sp/Solaris_hardening4.html

Some patches installations may give warnings/errors:

- * "return code 8" means that the patch in question cannot be applied because the relevant Solaris modules are not installed. This error can be ignored.
- * "return code 2" indicates patches are already installed. This error can be ignored.
- * "return code 25" means a patches requires another patch that is not yet installed. Try re-installing the bundle when finished, it may be a problem with the order of the installation of patches.
- * Other errors should be investigated. Check the patch installation log:
more `/var/sadm/install_data/Solaris_*Recommended_log`

A Google search for 9_Recommended "return code 5"– did not match any documents.

</babble>

Question: What is a return code 5 from the `./install_cluster` output?

Thanks

Scott Birl

Patch cluster install script for Solaris 9 Recommended

WARNING* SYSTEMS WITH LIMITED DISK SPACE SHOULD NOT INSTALL PATCHES:

With or without using the save option, the patch installation process will still require some amount of disk space for installation and administrative tasks in the /, /usr, /var, or /opt partitions where patches are typically installed. The exact amount of space will depend on the machine's architecture, software packages already installed, and the difference in the patched objects size. To be safe, it is not recommended that a patch cluster be installed on a system with less than 4 MBytes of available space in each of these partitions. Running out of disk space during installation may result in only partially loaded patches. Check and be sure adequate disk space is available before continuing.

Are you ready to continue with install? [y/n]: y
