

comp.sys.sun.misc: Re: Invitation to join the new Sun Microsystems User and Enthusiasts webring

Re: Invitation to join the new Sun Microsystems User and Enthusiasts webring

Source: <http://unix.derkeiler.com/Newsgroups/comp.sys.sun.misc/2004-10/0042.html>

From: alan pae (alan.pae_at_gmail.com)

Date: 10/22/04

Date: 21 Oct 2004 18:52:43 -0700

Craig Dewick <cdewick@lios.apana.org.au> wrote in message news:<Pine.GSO.4.58.0410150246070.23481@lios.apana.org.au>...

> Hi everyone,

>

> I've created a webring specifically to promote websites which offer > support, information, advice, etc. to owner/users/enthusiasts of Sun > Microsystems hardware and software products (including Cobalt, etc.). It > doesn't matter if your site is private, non-profit organisational, or > commercial, providing the information your site offers to visitors in > relation to Sun Microsystems topics is free of charge. Commercial sites > which charge for access to Sun-related technical information and advice > services will probably not be accepted.

>

> The main ring URL is:

>

> <http://n.webring.com/hub?ring=sunmicrosystemsu>

>

> and the special URL to submit details of your website to join the ring is:

>

> <http://n.webring.com/wrman?ring=sunmicrosystemsu&addsite>

>

> Please contact me if you have any questions or queries.

>

> Thanks,

>

> Craig.

Wny not just join the existing one?

<http://r.webring.com/hub?ring=solarisunix&list>

<http://www.cotse.com/Sun/>