

Re: Open Server 5.0.6 – problem in login

Source: <http://unix.derkeiler.com/Newsgroups/comp.unix.sco.misc/2004-05/0401.html>

---

From: Mark Stubbs (mark_at_sAwNiTfIt.ScPo.AuMk)

Date: 05/26/04

Date: Wed, 26 May 2004 08:41:30 +0100

"Pineapple" <roberquaNO@SPAMvirgilio.it> wrote in message news:c8vvms$b7d$1@newsreader.mailgate.org...

> Excuse me

> I have the following problem:

> *some times, but since some days more often, when i did the login, frome
the*

> server or from each terminal the time from the login it's very, very long,

> it's very strange for me because before never worked so.

> Any idea about this matter ?

> thanks

> Roberto Quaranta

If its a delay in the password prompt appearing, you very likely have the file

/etc/auth/systemttys-t or ttys-o which has not been removed.

Try tunning /etc/tcbck.

(I have a script running which checks for this files continued existence, and automatically kicks of tcbck – it runs about once or twice a week)

Cheers,

Mark Stubbs