

Re: disksuite and dual attached multipak?

Source: <http://unix.derkeiler.com/Newsgroups/comp.unix.solaris/2003-06/1538.html>

From: Raf LaPietra (raf_at_news.lapietra.org)

Date: 06/22/03

Date: Sat, 21 Jun 2003 23:32:37 GMT

In article <c976cb73.0306211214.1da3f609@posting.google.com>, Beeblebrox <sl1433@hotmail.com> wrote:
>jmsalvo <jmsalvo@yahoo.com.au> wrote in message
>news:<bd0vap$d6k$I@lust.ihug.co.nz>...
>> Darren Dunham wrote:
>> > Beeblebrox <sl1433@hotmail.com> wrote:
>> >
>> >>Hello,
>> >
>> >
>> >>I have 2 Sun Netra T1s running Solaris 8 attached to a multipak. Both >> >>hosts see all of the drives. I've already created the mirrors and >> >>filesystems using one of the hosts. What needs to happen for me to be >> >>able to mount those mirrors onto the other host?
>> >
>> >
>> > What are you trying to do? Do you just want a copy of the data? Break >> > the mirror, then mount it up on the other host.
>>
>> My guess is he wants to be able to mount the disks in the event of a >> failure on the primary host.
>
>Correct. In the event of a failure, I want to be able to mount the >filesystems on the other host. It's easy to do that with VxVM, but >I've had little luck finding out how to do it with SDS.
>
>Thanks in advance for the help.

It you want to be able to mount it on ther other host, then you will need to set up your metadevices in metaset, and make sure that both hosts have access to the sets. man metaset. This will allow one of your hosts to own the set at a given time

-Raf